

01 SMALL TALK

Have you ever tried a class or hobby for just a short time to see if you liked it?

Do you like trying new things, or do you prefer to stick with what you already know?

What is one small skill you learned this year?

02 POP QUIZ — DOES THIS SOUND NATURAL?

① ~~"I resigned my job."~~

✓ "I quit my job."

*resign*은 목적어를 바로 못 받아요. 일상에선 *quit*이 자연스러워요.

② ~~"I want to develop myself."~~

✓ "I want to grow."

*develop myself*는 직역 느낌이에요. *grow*나 *develop my skills*로 써요.

③ ~~"My company is very welfare."~~

✓ "My company has great benefits."

*welfare*는 형용사가 아니에요. 회사 복지는 *benefits*나 *perks*로 표현해요.

03 오늘의 워업

앞은 자리에서 한 명씩 돌아가며 A와 B 중 하나를 고르고, 이유를 한 문장으로 말하세요. 서포터즈는 'Why?'로 한 번씩 더 물어봐 주세요.

WARM-UP

Would You Rather · 빠른 4라운드

1

Try many different jobs vs Master one job for life

2

A strict boss who teaches you a lot vs A kind boss who leaves you alone

3

More free time but less money vs More money but less free time

4

An okay job near home vs A great job far away

CAREER · MAIN DISCUSSION

Short Internships — Low Pay or Good Experience?

🇰🇷 BACKGROUND

3개월 인턴은 짧아서 애매해 보일 수 있지만, 제대로 연결되면 직무 경험을 빠르게 확인하는 기회가 될 수 있어요. 월급이 낮거나 기간이 짧으면 현실적으로 부담이 있지만, 내가 그 일을 계속하고 싶은지 알아보는 데는 도움이 되죠. 문제는 '경험'이라는 말로 낮은 조건을 너무 쉽게 받아들이는 거예요. 좋은 인턴십은 경력 한 줄이 아니라, 실제로 배운 일과 설명할 수 있는 결과가 남아야 해요.

📖 READ BEFORE WE TALK

A short internship can be both useful and frustrating. Three months may be enough to see a real workplace, learn basic tasks, and decide whether the field fits you. But it can feel unstable if the pay is low, the role is unclear, or the company uses the word "experience" as a reason to offer less. The value depends on what the intern can actually do, not only the company name. A good short internship should leave something behind: a project, a skill, feedback, or a clearer direction. Without that, the person may spend time and energy and gain only one line on a resume. Career choices often carry two feelings at once — wanting to grow and wanting to feel safe. A choice that looks brave to one person may look risky to another.

💡 WORDS YOU MIGHT NEED

get my foot in the door — 일단 발을 들여놓다, 첫 기회를 잡다

real / hands-on work — 진짜 실무, 직접 해보는 일

a dead-end job — 성장 가능성이 없는 직장

🗣️ TRY THESE PHRASES

I'd say yes, because at my age ___ matters more than ___.

It depends on the company, but usually I would take it if ___.

The way I see it, the line is crossed when ___.

Honestly, good experience is real — but if ___, then it's just an excuse.

⚡ EASY ENTRY

1 Are you more of a 'watch first, then try' or a 'jump right in' person when you start a new job or task?

2 When was the last time you tried something new just to see if it was right for you — a class, a hobby, or a short job?

3 Quick — if you had to pick: a 3-month role, a 1-year role, or a permanent job — which length sounds most appealing right now?

4 Finish this: 'On my first week at a new job or workplace, I usually feel ___.'

🗣️ MAIN DISCUSSION

Q1. Would you take a short internship with low pay if the experience was really good? Why or why not?

↳ I'd say yes, because at my age ___ matters more than ___.

↳ It depends on the company, but usually I would take it if ___.

Q2. When does 'good experience' become just an excuse for low pay and poor conditions? Where is your line?

↳ The way I see it, the line is crossed when ___.

↳ Honestly, good experience is real — but if ___, then it's just an excuse.

Q3. Would you choose a famous company name or a role with real, hands-on work? Why?

↳ I lean more toward ___ because it helps me ___.

↳ Compared to a famous name, real hands-on work feels ___ to me.

Q4. After a short internship, what should you be able to show — a project, a new skill, or honest feedback?

↳ What matters most to me is being able to show ___.

↳ If I had to pick one thing, I'd want ___ after the internship.

Q5. What kind of risk feels worth it to you for a short chance — losing time, money, or comfort?

↳ Looking back, taking a small risk taught me ___.

↳ Most of the time, losing ___ feels worth it because ___.