

01 SMALL TALK

To stay close to a friend who lives far away, do you prefer texting or video calls?

Do you like planning your next meet-up early, or just deciding last minute?

When was the last time you missed someone you couldn't see often?

02 POP QUIZ — DOES THIS SOUND NATURAL?

1 ~~"I have a some on going."~~

✓ "I've got something going on with someone."

'썸'은 영어에 그대로 옮길 단어가 없어요. 'something going on with someone'이나 'the talking stage'로 풀어 써요.

2 ~~"We meeting for 3 months."~~

✓ "We've been seeing each other for three months."

동사가 빠졌고, 지금까지 이어진 기간은 현재완료진행(have been -ing)을 써요. 연애 맥락에선 'see each other'가 자연스러워요.

3 ~~"He gave me a big impression."~~

✓ "He made a big impression on me."

impression은 'make/leave an impression on someone' 형태가 고정이에요. give는 안 어울려요.

03 오늘의 워업

각 라운드 손가락으로 A 또는 B. 한 라운드마다 한 명 짧게 이유.

WARM-UP

Would You Rather (5분)

1

A short video call every single day

VS

One long, deep call once a week

2

See each other once a month, but always book the next trip in advance

VS

Meet whenever you can, with no fixed plan

3

Date someone 4 hours away who texts you all day

VS

Date someone 30 minutes away who is often too busy to reply

4

Know the exact date the distance will end

VS

Be together now, but never know when you can finally close the distance

LOVE · MAIN DISCUSSION

Long-Distance Dating — Sustainable Distance or Slow Goodbye?

🇰🇷 BACKGROUND

장거리 연애는 거리 자체보다 그 거리를 어떻게 관리하느냐가 더 중요해요. 자주 만나지 못해도 연락 방식, 다음 만남 계획, 서로의 생활을 존중하는 태도가 맞으면 버틸 수 있어요. 하지만 만남이 계속 미뤄지고 대화가 의무처럼 변하면 관계가 천천히 멀어지는 느낌이 들 수 있죠. 장거리의 핵심은 기다림을 견디는 것이 아니라, 떨어져 있는 시간에도 관계가 앞으로 가고 있다는 확신을 만드는 거예요.

📖 READ BEFORE WE TALK

Long-distance dating is not only a test of distance. It is a test of rhythm, trust, planning, and emotional energy. Some couples handle it well because they communicate clearly, set the next visit, and respect each other's daily life. Others slowly lose connection when calls become routine, visits get delayed, and the future feels unclear. Distance can make a relationship more intentional, but it can also show whether the relationship depends on convenience. The important question is not how far apart two people are. It is whether the relationship still feels like it is moving somewhere while they are apart.

💡 WORDS YOU MIGHT NEED

stay in touch — 연락하고 지내다

look forward to — ~을 기대하다

feel connected — 가까운 느낌이 들다

close the gap — (거리를) 좁히다

a deal-breaker — 절대 못 받아들이는 조건

drift apart — 점점 멀어지다

🗣️ TRY THESE PHRASES

It really comes down to __, not __.

Honestly, __ matters more than distance because __.

I'd say __ matters most because __.

If I had to pick just one, it would be __ — __.

⚡ EASY ENTRY

- 1 Are you more of a 'good-morning texter' or a 'late-night caller' when someone you like lives far away?
- 2 When was the last time you traveled a long way just to see someone you care about?
- 3 What's your usual move when you miss someone who lives far away?
- 4 On a scale of 1 to 5, how often do you already plan the next meet-up before you even say goodbye?

🗣️ MAIN DISCUSSION

Q1. How far is 'too far' for a relationship to still feel possible — is it about distance, time zones, or effort?

↳ It really comes down to __, not __.

↳ Honestly, __ matters more than distance because __.

Q2. What matters most in long-distance dating: trust, time, money, or future plans? Pick one and say why.

↳ I'd say __ matters most because __.

↳ If I had to pick just one, it would be __ — __.

Q3. Can a daily call become pressure instead of comfort? When does it cross the line for you?

↳ It depends on __, but usually __.

↳ The thing is, a call becomes pressure when __.

Q4. When does waiting start to feel like a slow goodbye instead of real patience?

↳ It starts to feel like a goodbye once __.

↳ Looking back, __ was the moment it stopped feeling like patience.

Q5. Would you start a relationship if you knew it would be long-distance soon? What would change your answer?

↳ I lean more toward __ because __.

↳ What would change my answer is __.